It is a conventional battery that is attached to a PCB (board) that can regulate the power. We offer it in power banks in many capacities.

POLYMER BATTERY

Lithium Polymer battery which is a closed circuit battery, higher quality than Li-ion.

mAh

milliAmperehour (mAh) is the capacity of the battery. It determines how long you can charge based on a temperature of 20 degrees Celsius. Average capacity of a mobile phone is about 1400 mAh and tablets from 5000 mAh up to 12000 mAh.

QUALITY

We have a 100% check for every power bank after production. Our power banks comply with RoHs, CE, MSDS and battery Directive 2006/66/ECC

OVERCHARGING PROTECTION

When you charge the power bank and is fully charged, the power bank will shut down automatically. It is a control system.

Overloading Protection

If the power bank is used to charge a device that requires more power than the power bank can supply the control system will automatically shut off the power bank.

OVER-CURRENT PROTECTION

The control system in the power bank also protects from the condition where the current in amperes is greater than the rated current of the device or conductors, resulting from a short circuit.
